

Footprints in the Sand

Footprints in the sand
Disappear with the rising tide
But carbon footprints are everywhere
Those you cannot hide.

They blacken the skies
They hurt our eyes
They trap the sun
Temperatures rise.

They scorch the earth
Plants can't grow
People are starving
Far more than we know.

Does it have to get worse
Before we take action?
Or do we consider it simply
Just another distraction?
